FREE PUBLIC QUIZ FOR ALL

Matylda Krzykowski
Felix Ganzer

March 26, 2026
18:30-20:30

CASABLANCA
110 rue de l'Alzette
Esch-sur-Alzette

The format, facilitated by Matylda Krzykowski and Felix Ganzer for The Esch Clinics, is a civic engagement format designed to foster citizen participation in urban policy discourse. Conceived within the request of "Loosse mir d'Stad maachen!" ("Let's make the city"), the quiz invites citizens to reflect on local governance and urban development by generating demands for future policy making.

Through guided questions and collective deliberation, the format promotes critical engagement with policy themes while making institutional processes more transparent and approachable. The Quiz strengthens co-creation and democratic participation, connecting citizens in making the city. The quiz features a variety of questions and activities, ranging from prompts like What's one place in your city that feels truly public? to imaginative scenarios such as If you were the mayor of Esch, what would be your first three official acts? Participants are also invited to engage in creative exercises, including writing a love letter to Esch and reflecting on questions like, If democracy were visible in the city, what would it look like?

The quiz will be conducted with the support of the students of Master in Architecture of the University of Luxembourg.

FELIX GANZER is an Austrian architect, activist and artist developing sustainable construction prototypes, establishing social infrastructures and supporting political engagement. He has worked at the architectural offices Dunkelschwarz in Salzburg and b+ in Berlin. Recent projects are the community project KOKO, collaborative constructions, as a part of the Salzkammergut Cultural Capital 2024, Head of Architecture & Urban Planning at children's play city Mini-München and activating public space with SuperHof.
